FORM OF BEQUEST.

I give and bequeath to the "Industrial Home for Girls," established in Philadelphia, dollars.

The Committee to receive applications for the admission of Girls into the "Home," or from persons wanting Girls, meet at the "Home," every Tuesday morning, at $10\frac{1}{2}$ o'clock.

Citizens can visit the Institution every day but Saturday and Sunday. The "Industrial Home for Girls," 762 South Tenth street.

EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT.

The claims of the Industrial Home as a charity—filling a sphere peculiar to itself and doing a valuable work of its own—have been presented from year to year in the Annual Report of its Board of Managers. It is not necessary now, therefore, to do more than remind those into whose hands this report will fall, that the special function of this institution is to provide a home for destitute girls, where they may not only be rescued from the perils and temptations of this large city, but may be trained as servants, and thus be enabled to support themselves. All the work of the Home is done by the girls themselves, in turn, and thus they are fitted for all branches of domestic service. They are also given a good common 'school education, being sufficiently well instructed for their condition in life.

The cost of maintaining the institution is relatively very small, as the only salaries are those paid to the Matron, Assistant Matron, and Teacher.

As the children become sufficiently advanced to put out to service, a selection is made from the numerous applicants for girls, and care is taken that their future homes shall be comfortable and conducive to the best interests of the child.

In the general management of the Home, it may not be improper to state that the Managers exercise a close, personal supervision, and while the regular committees meet at the Home three days in each week, the individual Managers are in frequent attendance on other days. The benevolent may therefore feel assured that their gifts are not only devoted to the best of all charities,—to one that teaches the helpless how to help themselves,—but that they really accomplish their aim. This institution has never received an appropriation from the State, nor even a legacy, and its only resources are the contributions of its subscribers and friends. If these would further interest themselves so far as to visit the Home and judge for themselves, and to assist in making it better known, it is believed that its usefulness would be no longer restricted, as it now is, by inadequate and straitened means.

It will be seen, by reference to the Treasurer's report, that $4000 are still needed to pay off a mortgage upon the property, and it is intended to make a special effort to raise that sum during the present year.

Since the starting of this institution there have been four hundred and twenty girls under its care, and the Managers are frequently gladdened by hearing of them, after they have completed their terms of service, as still living with the families in which they were originally placed, retaining the confidence and respect of their employers. This year has been particularly fruitful in such results. Twenty-seven new girls have been received during the past year; twenty-one have had snitable places found for them; ten have been returned from their places; ten have, for various reasons, been taken away by relatives or friends, and four have left of their own accord. At present there are thirty-one girls in the Home.

Special attention may also be called to some of the individual cases that have been under the eare of the Home during the past year. Two girls were received who were over twelve years of age, and who could not, therefore, have been admitted in any other institution. One of these, hearing that her mother was dying in Philadelphia, came from Boston, where she had lived with her aunt, only to find herself a wanderer in the streets, for her mother had died and was buried before her arrival, and she had nowhere to go but to the station-house. After a wretched night passed there, the proper officer brought her to the friendly shelter of the Home, where she was kindly welcomed and every effort made to discover her aunt in Boston. She had already moved, but a warning from a police officer put an end to further search, as her aunt was not a proper person to be intrusted with the charge of a young girl. The other above referred to, found herself, at eleven o'clock at night, at the Baltimore depot, without a friend in this large city. She had lived at service in a family in Virginia. where she was frequently beaten by her master, and her treatment was such that her mistress put some trifling sum of money in her pocket, and started her in the cars for Philadelphia, where, the child said, a relative resided. She did not, however, know his address, and on her arrival she was taken to the station-house for the night. In the morning she was brought to the Home, with the marks of the beating still visible on her back, and here, for the first time, the poor child felt herself free from the dread of ill-treatment.

and found a mother in our kind Matron,—for she has neither father nor mother, sister nor brother of her own, nor has she been able to find the relative in search of whom she came to the city. Upon hearing of such a case of destitution, every one must feel thankful that there is such a home as this, not only to give shelter and protection, but to insure friends to such a lonely one.

Another little girl, of about eleven years, wandered away from her home, in the northern part of the city, attracted by the music of a street band, until utterly bewildered and lost. As she had been a resident of the city too short a time to have any knowledge of the street in which she lived, an officer brought her to the Home, hoping to discover her parents; but they have never been heard of, and she is still here, perfectly contented and happy.

It is rather the exception, that the children who are received into the Home are so utterly friendless; more frequently, some relative brings them to rescue them from the neglect and evil example of drunken and vicious parents. Often a father, having lost his wife, and having no one to give them proper oversight while he works for their support, places his children in the Home. In a case of this kind that occurred during the past year, the oldest, a girl of only eleven years, had had all the care, not only of her two sisters, but the preparation of her father's meals and the charge of his house, until her health broke down and he lost his work. Being unwilling to let them suffer, he then brought them to the Home, and has since paid some trifling sum for their board, it being his wish to contribute what he could for their support.

The ehildren are again indebted to Mr. J. S. Helfenstein for a liberal Christmas dinner; and on Christmas-eve the Managers had their usual festival for them.

The health of the family has been admirable during the year, and there has been a most satisfactory state of order and systematic regulation in all the departments of the Home.

The Managers wish to express their sincere gratitude to all who have in any way contributed to the furthering of the objects of this institution, either by subscriptions or donations in money, provisions, elothing, or contributions of any kind, and would earnestly ask a continuance of their aid in the prosecution of this work in the future.

EXTRACT FROM THE CHARTER.

Obtained from the Legislature in 1859.

Section 6. That the said Trustees shall have power to receive, and to retain under their control, all such poor girls, over the age of twelve years, as may be brought to the said institution, for the purpose of being received into the same, by the father of such children, if he be living, or if he be dead, by the mother of said children; also, such orphan girls and all such other girls as may be neglected or deserted by their parents or their surviving parent, who shall be brought to them for the purpose aforesaid; subject, nevertheless, in these last-mentioned cases, to the approval of the judge of a court of record for the city and county of Philadelphia aforesaid, or any other president judge of the courts of this Commonwealth; and the said girls, when so received, to detain, maintain, educate, and control, until proper persons can be found who may be willing to receive them as apprentices to some useful art, trade, calling, or employment; and thereupon the said Trustees, or a committee of their board appointed for that purpose, shall have power, with the assent of any alderman or judge of a court of record of the said city or county, as aforesaid, to bind by indenture, either in or out of the Commonwealth aforesaid, the said girls, or any of them, as apprentices as aforesaid, until the age of eighteen years; stipulating and agreeing, nevertheless, on behalf of the child in every such indenture, that the master or mistress shall provide meat, medicine, clothing, lodging, instruction, and all other things necessary, usual, or proper for the comfort and support of the children to be bound, for their well-being and advancement in life; which indentures, so made, shall be of full force and effect for all and singular the purposes therein specified as aforesaid.

The undersigned, having examined the foregoing account of R. N. Willson, Treasurer, and compared the payments with his vouchers, find it correct, there being a balance in his hands due the Institution of $1216.63.

GEORGE VAUX, HORACE Y. EVANS, Auditors.

Note.—A portion of the above-stated balance, to wit, $1000, has been specifically appropriated towards a fund for the extinguishment of a mortgage debt of $5000 which is owed by the Institution. Since the Treasurer's account for the year was closed, a bill of $50 has been presented and paid. The actual balance in hand, therefore, available for the current expenses of the Home, is only $166.63.
